

Research Internship

Hello, and welcome to Lateral Labs! Thank you for taking the time to read this.

We are a digital agency based in Dar since 2017. Lateral Labs envisions a future that is driven by Digital, object-oriented and cost-efficient technology. As such, we offer Digital strategy, design, and operations services to businesses across sectors who seek meaningful impact online.

In the last two years, Lateral Labs has worked for over 80 unique clients on a range of projects, including brand conceptualization, website design-development, and social media management.

We're looking for a curious, independent, and resourceful student who can conduct relevant and actionable research. This involves understanding problems in different fields, collecting qualitative and/or quantitative information, and providing clear analyses based on results.

Reporting to: Head of Strategy

Key skills:

1. Curiosity - You have many serious questions about the world.
2. Independence - You are able to get things done without supervision.
3. Time management - You are able to propose and manage your own schedule.
4. Future thinking - You are used to imagining and sharing your opinions about the long term future in social, economic or political terms.
5. Research experience - You have conducted research before and are familiar with research methods and reporting.

Benefits:

- Fixed term of 3 months with communications stipend.
- Flexible hours working from anywhere you can find an Internet connection.
- Room to grow across the Digital services spectrum.

Requirements:

We would like to review at least 3 pieces of previous work that required research and writing a report of at least 2 pages. If these reports are not available, then we would like to speak to at least 3 references who can vouch for your work specifically in terms of research.

Please email your submission to jobs@lateral.co.tz. Good luck, and thank you once again!
